

Brunner Copy

HIWASSEE COLLEGE,

-YEAR-

'76 to 1878

SWEETWATER, TENNESSEE

BIENNIAL CATALOGUE

— OF —

HIWASSEE COLLEGE,

— YEAR —

SWEETWATER, TENN.,

FROM MAY 25TH, 1876, TO MAY 30TH, 1878.

— ❦ —

KNOXVILLE, TENN.;

YEARY & BOWDEN, PRINTERS

1878.

CONATSER, F. B.,	Jamestown
CARTER, DAVID,	Hiwassee College
COOK, J. W.,	"
COOK, WM.,	"
COWARD, I. Y.,	Clinton
COX, J. W.,	Brundidge, Ala
CRUDGINGTON, J. W.,	Ball Camp
DARWIN, A. C.,	Rhea Springs
DARWIN, J. F.,	Washington
DARWIN, W. P.,	"
DAVIS, A. C.,	Crystal Spring, Miss
DAVIS, C. B.,	Georgetown
D'ARMOND, J. T.,	Kingston
DEATHERAGE, T. N.,	Barnardsville
DECELL, T. F.,	Caseyville, Miss
DICKEY, D. L.,	Wallace's Switch, Va
DICKEY, J. P.,	Rhea Springs
DICKEY, J. W.,	"
DORMAN, Rev. J. W.,	Boulah, Miss
DYER, HUGH,	Hiwassee College
DYER, ROBT LEE,	"
EVENS, J. E.,	Washington
EVENS, T. H.,	"
FLOWERS, F. D.,	Union Church, Miss
FORSHEE, WALTER,	Hiwassee College
FOSTER, Rev. A. J.,	Atlanta, Miss
FOWLER, S. A.,	Madisonville
FULTON, S. M.,	Summerfield, Va
FULTON, W. H.,	Mouth of Wilson, Va
GALLOWAY, J. B.,	Canton, Miss

GILBERT, S. H.,	Boscobell, La.
GRIFFITH, R. L.,	Madisonville
GRIFFITH, W. S.,	"
HALE, WM. D.,	"
HALFORD, J. J.,	Lake, Miss.
HALPHEN, F. F.,	St. Martinsville, La.
HAMILTON, H. S.,	New Canton
HARDIN, J. H.,	Ten Mile
HENDERSON, W. T.,	Cog Hill
HICKS, R. M.,	Madisonville
HOBKINS, M. B.,	Clinton
HYLAND, C. A.,	Warrenton, Miss.
HYLAND, C. S.,	" "
KELLER, F. L.,	Hiwassee College
KELLER, H. J.,	"
KELLY, W. B.,	Washington
KEY, JOHN S.,	Chattanooga
KINCAID, Rev. A.,	Clinton
KING, W. B.,	Toomsaba, Miss.
LENOIR, W. B.,	Lenoir's
LOWRY, J. H.,	Madisonville
LOWRY, W. L.,	"
LOWRY, W. R.,	Winnsboro, La.
MARMON, N. L.,	Hickory Flat, Miss.
MARSHALL, C. M.,	Madisonville
MARTIN, F. R.,	Breaux Bridge, La.
McKEE, K. C.,	Muddy Creek
McKENZIE, B. B.,	Hiwassee College
McKENZIE, F. C.,	"
McKENZIE, WM. Y.,	Sweetwater
McFALL, W. L.,	Rhea Springs

MEER, J. G.,	Madisonville
MINIS, H. F.,	"
MONTGOMERY, S. P.,	"
MORRIS, J. E. B.,	Monticello, Fla.
MOSER, J. A.,	Hiwassee College
MOSER, ROBT.,	"
MOSER, S. M.,	"
MUNSEY, T. K.,	Chattanooga
NEWMAN, D. B.,	Union Church, Miss.
NIELL, E. N.,	Gandy's Cove, Ala.
PATTON, R. B.,	South Pittsburg
PAYNE, A. J.,	Cog Hill
†PECK, A. B.,	Madisonville
PECK, G. W.,	Fort Bluff, Ala.
PECK, J. E.,	" "
PITTS, A. L.,	Falling Water
PRICE, C. L.,	Decatur, Ala.
PRITCHARD, S. J.,	Warrenton, N. C.
QUINN, E. A.,	Rhea Springs
QUINN, J. P.,	"
ROBERTSON, Rev. J. W.,	Unitia
RENFRO, W. W.,	Rhea Springs
RODDY, M. S.,	"
SAGE, Rev. W. J.,	Elk Creek, Va.
SIMON, W. S.,	St. Martinsville, La.
SPECK, F. A.,	Morristown
STRADLEY, H. E.,	Hiwassee College
STREET, F. M.,	Morganville, Ga.
STRINGER, R. M.,	Chattanooga
SUMMITT, J. H.,	Madisonville

†Deceased.

TAPP, A. R.,	Waldron, Ark.
THOMPSON, J. B.,	Rhea Springs
THOMPSON, J. R.,	"
THOMPSON, Z. A.,	"
THOMPSON, W. H.,	Belltown
TRIPLETT, R. A.,	Cog Hill
WALKER, W. E.,	Arnaudville, La.
WATERHOUSE, R. G.,	Rhea Springs
WAUGH, J. H.,	Jefferson, N. C.
WELLBORN, L. C.,	Monticello, Miss.
WELLBORN, R. M.,	" "
WILLIAMS, E. F.,	Rome, Ga.
WORTHY, J. C.,	Madisonville
YEARWOOD, J. M.,	Mouse Creek
YEATS, G. W.,	Spring Valley, Miss.

RECAPITULATION.

Tennessee.....	99
Mississippi	20
Alabama	7
Louisiana.....	6
Virginia	5
Georgia	3
North Carolina.....	3
Arkansas	1
Florida	1
South Carolina.....	1
Total	146

HIWASSEE COLLEGE.

ORIGIN, 1849.

Dr. M. Gibson, late a Professor in Tusculum College, engaged to teach at Fork Creek Academy. His students became so numerous that they found it difficult to obtain boarding. He then moved his school to Bat Creek Camp Ground, the church becoming a school-room and the tents dormitories for young men. Robert E. Doak, A. M., succeeded Dr. Gibson, calling other teachers to his aid. A brick edifice for College purposes was built. A charter was granted and amended by the Legislature of Tennessee, giving Hiwassee College all the powers and privileges awarded to other similar institutions in the State. Boarding Houses and Dormitories came on of necessity. Finally, after various vicissitudes, the College passed under the care of the Holston Annual Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South.

DESIGN.

The founders of Hiwassee College were plain, practical men—mainly local preachers—rich in faith, but poor in worldly goods. They designed to afford to talented young men, of moderate means, an opportunity to obtain a thorough and practical education. Cheap rates of board and tuition, on the one hand; able and experienced teachers, on the other; these were leading thoughts with them. So far, their design has been crowned with success.

LOCATION.

In the country, away from the incentives to extravagance and dissipation of towns and cities, in a community noted for its moral surroundings—a community accustomed to industrious habits—where the farmers do their own work, with little or NO COLORED HELP in field or kitchen—where labor receives its due meed of honor. Such is the place to which we invite the young men of the South in these times of trial.

LITERARY SOCIETIES.

There are two of these, old as the College itself, affording important aids in training young men in parliamentary proceedings and in composition and speaking. Their Halls are neat, carpeted, comfortable, and nicely furnished.

LIBRARY.

There were two libraries before the war; but such was the damaged condition, on the return of peace, that the Trustees united the remnants of the two, and placed the books in charge of a Librarian regularly chosen for the purpose of preserving the books with care. These are now placed in a room fitted up for library purposes alone. Additions have been slowly made, till now the number of volumes amounts to about sixteen hundred. By the kindness of friends, the number will continue to increase.

OFFICES.

Address letters simply, "HIWASSEE COLLEGE, TENN." Such is the name of our Post Office, supplied with daily mails, except Sundays. Freights, Express packages and telegrams should be marked, Sweetwater, Tenn., our nearest depot—seven miles—on the East Tennessee, Virginia and Georgia Railroad. Students from the East come via Knoxville; from the West, via Chattanooga; from the South, via Dalton. From Sweetwater they get conveyance any day—hack, buggy, or horseback. Some save a dollar by walking.

TEXT-BOOKS.

These can be had of the Professors, at publishers' prices. Should the student, on leaving, wish to sell his books, he will find purchasers at figures but little less than cost. In this way the heavy expense of text-books can be reduced to almost nothing: say ten cents a volume!

Tuition Fees for Five Months.

Primary studies.....	$12.50
Intermediate ".....	15.00
Collegiate ".....	20.00

One-half in advance, unless otherwise arranged with some one of the Faculty.

Rates of Boarding per Week.

Lodging, bed, furniture, fuel and board.....	$2.50
Board only.....	1.50

These terms rule at the Boarding House and in good families in the vicinity.

Dormitories are on the College grounds, in which students mess, or bachelor, at less than half the above rates. Thus we can accommodate different wants at rates truly low, when compared with the prices that obtain at other institutions of like grade.

"Military Drill."

We avoid the expense of uniform, and the heavy tax upon time and health, which a military school requires. Says the New York Tribune: "The military drill observable in some schools looks well on parade, but it makes more automatons than geniuses."

DIPLOMAS.

These are beautiful specimens of the Lithographic Art, executed in Baltimore. Students completing the Course, minus the Classics, will receive the degree of Bachelor of Science. Those completing the full course will be honored as Bachelors of Art; and, after three years spent in literary pursuits, these may receive the second degree, as Masters of Art. In all cases, the applicant must deposit a fee of five dollars to defray the expense of parchment.

DISCIPLINE.

Students are received as gentlemen, and are required to conduct themselves as such in their relations to one another, to the community, and to their teachers. Every means is taken to habituate them to act from correct principles. Firmness and kindness characterize the exercise of authority. When milder means fail, the turbulent are sent away, that the rest may not be disturbed.

PRIZES.

"Prof. E. L. Youmans thinks the practice of giving prizes in schools is vicious, because it substitutes spurious and unworthy motives for the joy of the conqueror."—Adv. Guide.

SUNDRY ITEMS.

The buildings are plain, economical structures, erected for useful ends by men of moderate means. The grounds embrace several acres, affording room for youthful play in intervals of study. The Professors reside upon or near the premises, all watching with assiduous care over the College boys.

A distant view of the lofty Alleghany Mountains expands the mind with emotions of the beautiful and the sublime. Around are hills clothed with forests, and valleys covered with grain and grass, or alive with flocks and herds. Gushing springs and healthful breezes impart delight. The farmers, with their families, are busy with their cares, enjoying "health, peace and competence."

A SUGGESTION.

At Sweetwater, seven miles from the College, is an excellent Female Institute, under the patronage of the Athens District Conference. How nice for parents, living in the malarial regions of the South to send the daughter to Sweetwater Institute and the son to Hiwassee College! The one can be near the other, and both can come and go over the railroads at the same time. So far as tried, the plan has worked admirably. Others would try the experiment, did they but know the economy they could practice in the matter suggested for their consideration.

TERMS AND VACATIONS.

The Collegiate year embraces two terms of five months each. The Fall Term begins the 1st Monday in August, and ends the Thursday next preceding Christmas. The Spring term opens the first Monday in January, and closes the last Thursday in May—COMMENCEMENT DAY. Thus teachers and students enjoy the Christmas holidays and also a vacation during the enervating season of summer.

ADMISSION.

Students admitted at any time and at any stage of the course of study. Also allowed to pursue a select course, under the approval of the President. No pains will be spared to meet the wants of such as are preparing to teach in the common or the higher schools.

REFERENCES.

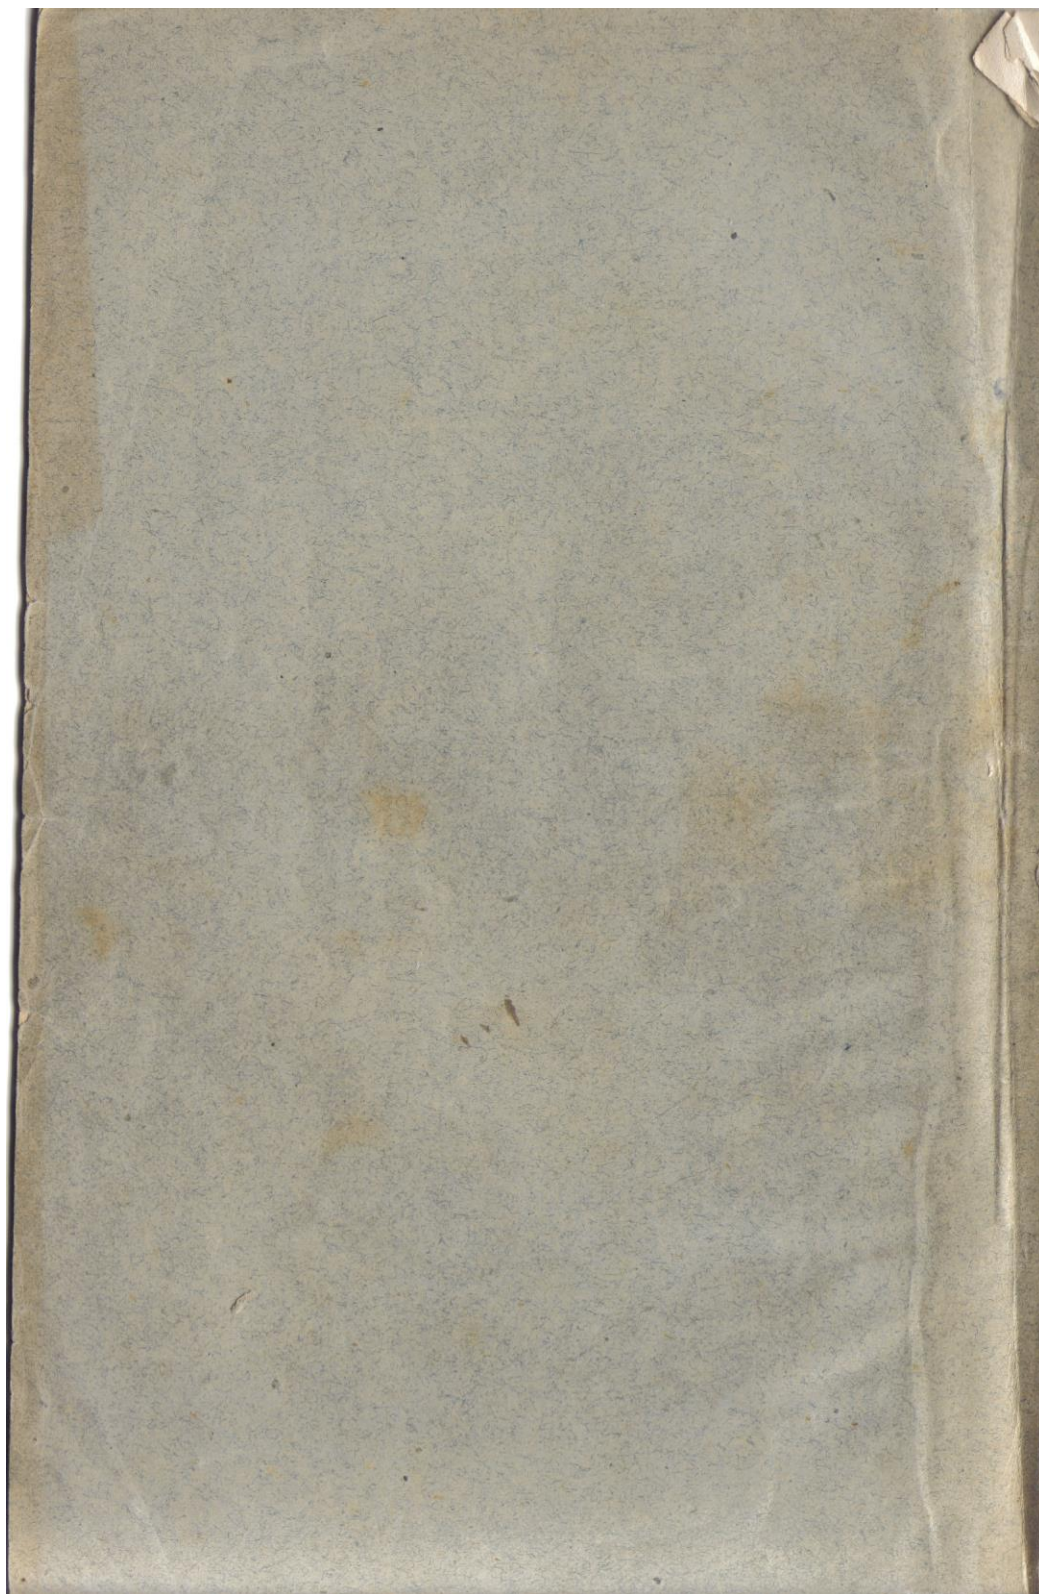

To strangers abroad, we beg leave to offer the following references:

- ALABAMA.—REV. F. M. GRACE, A. M., Moulton.
 ARKANSAS.—REV. JAS. ATKINS, Little Rock.
 FLORIDA.—MR. R. H. GORDON, St. Augustine.
 GEORGIA.—J. I. WRIGHT, Rome.
 KENTUCKY.—REV. J. D. FRASER, Lafayette.
 LOUISIANA.—JUDGE E. SIMON, St. Martinsville.
 MISSOURI.—REV. D. R. McANALLY, D. D., St. Louis.
 MISSISSIPPI.—REV. I. W. COOPER, Miss. Conf.
 NORTH CAROLINA.—REV. J. R. LONG, Asheville.
 SOUTH CAROLINA.—REV. BISHOP WIGHTMAN, D. D., Charleston.
 TENNESSEE.—JUDGE J. B. HOYL, Cleveland.
 TEXAS.—JNO. W. ROBERTSON, Esq., Austin.
 VIRGINIA.—REV. WM. HICKS, Bland C. H.

COURSE OF STUDY.

Our curriculum is the result of long experience. Some of the branches are eminently practical, while others are educational—adapted to develop the mental and moral powers. Both classes of studies are essential. Apart from the polish derived from the study of the Ancient Languages, there is a discipline induced by such study, which is seldom, if ever, reached by any other method. The best educators everywhere agree in this.

We have carefully tried to secure the best interests of the student—his best interests in “the life that now is and in that which is to come.”

NOTE by Archivist

Two leaves (4 pages) are missing from this unique copy

Robert Allen

Apr 25, 2016